Edward has a broad commercial practice, with a particular focus on taxation, artificial intelligence (AI), insolvency and contractual disputes.

He has recently appeared in complex tax anti-avoidance appeals before the Full Federal Court (Commissioner of Taxation v ACN 154 520 199 Pty Ltd and Commissioner of Taxation v CPG Group Pty Ltd ACN 164 269 023, led by Eugene Wheelahan KC, Catherine Pierce SC and Greg Davies KC). He is also briefed to appear in several confidential matters in the Administrative Review Tribunal, led by Andrew De Wijn SC and Eugene Wheelahan KC, and has appeared unled in various Supreme Court matters concerning insolvency, oppression, contract claims, misleading and deceptive conduct, estoppel and costs disputes. He also advises on the legal implications of Al use, including in relation to data privacy, professional standards, regulatory compliance and liability for automated decision-making.

Prior to joining the Bar, Edward spent almost a decade working on cross-border mergers and acquisitions, complex corporate tax advice, and policy development. He has held roles at Greenwoods & Herbert Smith Freehills, the Commonwealth Treasury, the ATO and Big4 accounting firms.

Edward holds a law degree with first class honours from Monash University, where he also completed an honours thesis on the income tax general anti-avoidance rule. He also holds a Master of Taxation degree from Melbourne University (H2A), a Bachelor of Arts and a Diploma of Languages (German).

Edward read with Andrew De Wijn SC, and his senior mentor is Eugene Wheelahan KC.
