Jeremy joined the bar in 2005 and was appointed Senior Counsel in 2019. Since joining the bar, he has developed an extensive practice in commercial litigation with particular expertise in the areas of insurance, competition law, construction disputes, intellectual property, professional negligence, directors duties, confidential information and corporations law.

Jeremy regularly appears in cases in all the Victorian superior jurisdictions. He has also appeared in cases in New South Wales, Western Australia, South Australia and Tasmania. He also appears in the Australian Competition Tribunal.

Jeremy regularly acts for large corporate clients and regulators and has previously acted for Apple Inc, Optus, Toyota Australia, Westpac, CGU Insurance Australia, QBE Insurance, Monsanto Australia, Eli Lilly Australia, Icon Constructions, PriceWaterhouseCoopers, the CSIRO and the Australian Competition and Consumer Commission.

Jeremy has been recognised by Chambers and Partners for the past seven years (including 2025) as one of the leading silks for dispute resolution in Australia. In 2025 he was ranked at a tier 1 Leading Silk for Commercial Disputes in Australia. He was also listed by Doyle's Guide in 2025 as one of the leading Senior Counsel in Victoria for Technology Media and Telecommunications Law.

In 2023, Chambers and Partners describes his advocacy skills as follows:

"He provides quality, easily understood, strategic advice. He's very good to work with, a good leader and delegator to junior counsel, and he has the respect of the Bench - judges trust his submissions. He is a very good advocate."

In 2023, The Legal 500 described his advocacy as follows:

"Jeremy is highly intellectual and has an ability to articulate complex legal concepts into digestible parts for client consumption. He is impressive on his feet and is well regarded by judges."
